

PRESS RELEASE

National Theatre Live

Idaho Falls, ID, September 12, 2017:

The Idaho Falls Arts Council is pleased to introduce National Theatre Live to Idaho Falls with six presentations in the MC Theater at ARTitorium on Broadway.

National Theatre Live is the National Theatre's groundbreaking project to broadcast world-class theater to cinemas and theaters across the UK and internationally. Direct from the stage in London, these productions feature the work of world-renowned actors, directors, and writers.

The Idaho Falls Arts Council's season of National Theatre Live begins on October 6th with Harold Pinter's No Man's Land starring Patrick Stewart and Ian McKellen. The series will continue with:

Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead – November 10

Twelfth Night – December 1

Amadeus – February 2

Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? – March 2

Julius Caesar – April 20

"We've been looking at National Theatre Live for a couple years now," said Brandi Newton, Executive Director of the Idaho Falls Arts Council, "and we are so excited to be presenting it now. Not everyone gets the opportunity to travel to London to see these incredible productions, but that doesn't mean they don't want to. It's at the heart of our mission to make world-class productions like this accessible for our community."

Tickets are $20, $12 for students, or $100 for the full series and are available through the Idaho Falls Arts Council at idahofallsarts.org, 208-522-0471, or at 498 A Street in downtown Idaho Falls.

Season Sponsor: Fluor Idaho
